CONFIDENCE IN RACING.

IT IS RAPIDLY REVIVING ONCE MORE.

THE GOOD WORK IN THIS DIRECTION DONE BY

THE CONEY ISLAND JOCKEY CLUB. "Racing is declining," a pessimist said on Saturday to a party of friends on the clubhouse balcony at the Sheepshead Hay track.

If racing is declining it is because certain persons wished to make racing conform to their narrow ideas of sport. The attendance at Sheepshead Bay on Saturday was more than 6,000 persons. At Gut-tenburg at least 5,000 persons were present and at the trotting race at Fleetwood Park there were at least 5,000 more, while two baseball games between unattractive clubs drew at least 12,000 spectators. All that is needed to keep up the interest in racing is an attractive programme, so that racegoers will not have to remain all the afternoon to witness races in which three out of the six colors on the card have favorites at odds of 10 to 1 on. To be sur Stonenell at 20 to 1 on was defeated on Saturday, but swallow does not make a summer, so that the public who dislike to bet their money at shorter odds than even money were not pleased at the overthrow of the best horse in the race.

When the programme-makers with to draw large and appreciative crowds they should arrange their programmes so as to prevent any horse from posted as a starter in a race when the betting it ilmost sure to be prohibitive.

The racing at Sheepshead Bay has been of the highest order of excellence. The stewards have ne their best to prevent fraudulent racing, and have acted promptly whenever the exercise of their functions was needed. The last week did much to restore the confidence of racegoers. When the rac officials are disinterested, and have no axes to grind, their decisions are received in good faith by everybody who attends the races.

Much has been said and written about the greamatch between Domino and Dobbins, but in future years the match will be referred to as a precedent When the judges decided the race a dead heat, and James R. Keene was asked if he would run it off, he said at once: "Wait until I see Mr. Croker I will abide by whatever he decides.

On the other hand, when Mr. Croker was told that his horse was almost sure to defeat Domino, he said: "I do not know about that. Domino ran game as a pebble, and if I was ever so sure of winning I would leave the entire matter to Mr. Keene. Whatever he says I will agree to. The sportsmanlike attitude assumed by the prin cipals in the match is likely to be of inestimable benefit to future matchmakers, as both Jame R. Keene and Pichard Croker said that whatever done they wanted to conform to best interests of racing. When so When 80 magnanimity toward leaders, what should be the result among their followers? How well the decision of th stewards was received is proved by the fact that only one man objected to the de-entire racing stable surprised many persons. When Mr. Lorillard's physicians said that he should not devote so much time to the excitement of racing it took him only a few minutes to decide course to pursue. Mr. Lorillard does not intend to retire permanently from the turf, but will race the horses of his own breeding, which he selects from time to time.

There is not a single first-class trainer in charge Many wealthy men who are willing to pay high prices for first-class horses but who do not desire to race an extensive stable ould purchase horses if the services of a first class trainer could be secured. It is likely that John Huggins, who has proved that he is seconto none in his calling, may open a public stable Already some owners of large and extensive stables are desirous of securing his services. Should Huggins, however, decide to open a publi training stable he could select the horses he desired to train. Simms, the jockey for the Rancoca Stable, will have little trouble in securing an gagement. Simms, fortunately for himself, can ride at 165 pounds without wasting, and on that count is extremely desirable to any of the great The sale on Thursday should attract a large crowd of turfmen from all parts of the country that, notwithstanding the stringency of th money market, fair prices are likely to be realized. The long delay at the post in the race for the Omnium Handicap, on Saturday, is being talked about all over the city in the places frequented by turfmen. Many persons are inclined to place the blame on the starter, but everybody who knows James Howe is aware that he is one of the mos conscientious men holding an official position on racetrack. His desire to do justice to every horse in the race caused him some undeserved criticisms. It is to be hoped that some of the fines inflicted by the starter will be enforced, although at least best to assist him in getting a start. R. Harris's action on Candelabra was talked about by every-body after the race. The action of the stewards in suspending him for the meeting was commended by every one who desires the punishment of in excusable brutality.

Richard Croker seems greatly pleased with his turf investments. He said: "I am a firm believer in harmony. The sport of racing is too great to be controlled by the whims and caprices of individuals. We all know that the world moves and that racing has advanced like everything else The persons who labor under the delusion that the ideas of twenty years ago are applicable to the racing of the present day, should either adopt the ideas of the present or withdraw from active participation in the management of the sport. Outside of the sport itself are the interests of the breeders. In this day of $150,000 Ormondes, $100,000 St. Blaises $20,000 broad mares and the possibility of a two year-old winning $200,000 in a season, the management of racetracks should be broad and liberal in its tendencies. Anything that tends to degrade the sport or the breeding interests, in which mill ions of dollars are invested, should be met with firmness, and no matter who is affected, the powers that control racing should act without unneces

THIS WILL BE A GREAT DAY AT FLEETWOOD. The exid for today, the last of Fleetwood's Grand Circuit meeting, is by all odds the best of the whole series. Besides the 2:14 and 2:20 stakes, and the mile series. Besides the 2.14 and 2.70 stakes, and the mile dash for yearlings, there are two match races, between C. Kerner's b. h. Kerneer, by Electioneer, and S. Me-Millan's b. h. Director's Jug. by Director, and between I. J. Schacht's ch. m. Clochette, by Chester Chief, and A. Ehinseller's b. m. by Clifton. The unbeaten five-yearold Hulds, 2 085, starts in the 2:14 Stakes against a all but high-class fielt, which will make the California amplon go a great heat or two to win.

But the great attraction will be the effort which the in the part of the first such brilliant form last week in ming two races from some of the fastest trotters in ining, and taking a record of 2:00%, that he says to eclipse the great feat of the champion trotte such work as Directum did last week would knock out most of the horses in training, but the black colt seems to thrive on fact work and hard-fought races. This tila. fixed for 4 o'clock.

The horses in the 2:14 stake will be called at clock. The starters in the three stakes are: EPTEMBER 4-GOOD CHEER PURSE, $3,000-2:1 CLASS.

A CENTENARIAN'S HAPPY DAY.

FRIENDS GATHER AROUND A WELL-KNOWS WESTCHESTER COUNTY WOMAN ON HER ONE BUNDREDTH BURTHDAY. Mrs. Cynthia Falconer Smith, of Greenburg,

Westchester County, celebrated her one-hundredth birthday yesterday, at the country home of William B. Read, of this city, at Grand View, Rockland County, Mrs. Smith was born in West-chester County on September 3, 1756. She is a that control racing should act without unnecessary delay."

Mr. Croker has great faith in Dobbins and between that he will train into one of the finest three year-olds on the American turf.

The entries at Sheepshead Bny look like old times, as good fields start in a large proportion of the races. Some persons regret that there are not more races over a distance of ground at weight for age. Some of these persons are the ones who allowed their horses to remain in the stable rather than furnish good contests for the public, On Saturday a well-known trainer said. "I could win some races with my horse, but if I started him and won I would be completely handicapped out of everything next year."

The horses owned by Colonel North, of England, were controlled and managed by Colonel E. A. Buck, who met his death in the accident on the Long Island Railroad at Reilin a week age. Colonel T. P. Ochiltree, who acted for Colonel North, advised him to trust to the judgment of Colonel Buck, a first trial, the horses were turned over to Thomas Haley, a painstaking and thoroughly competent man. The death of Colonel Buck is not likely to affect Haley's relations with Colonel North, so that the colors of the plucky Englishman are likely to be frequently seen on American to the purch of entries made by English trainer who had now the colors of the plucky Englishman are likely to be frequently seen on American to the purch of entries made by English trainer who had colored to the plucky Englishman are likely to affect Haley's relations with Colonel Buck is ownly to be frequently seen on American to the celebration of Mrs. Smith herself was in the celebration of Mrs. Smith herself was in the ber of entries made by English trainer were secured for stakes to be decided in America.

She said that when some of her nieces visited her at her home in Westchester County last winter they found her out in the yard feeding the chickens. An especially bumptious rooster flew from a tree and knocked her down. Mrs. Smith still feels the effect of her fall on that day, but otherwise she seemed to be as well as any of those with whom she spent yesterday.

Mrs. Kate Read, at whose home Mrs. Smith celebrated her birthday yesterday, is her grand-niece. Mrs. Smith related many interesting anecdotes of her early days in Westchester County. Among the Mr. and Mrs. Read were Mr. and Mrs. William H. Falconer, Frank Read, Master Brice Falconer, Miss Elizabeth Falconer, Miss Louise Falconer, Miss Essie Scofield, Mr. and Mrs. David Whiting, Miss Essie Scofield, Mr. and Mrs. David Whiting.

Dutcher, of the Nyack Methodist Church, conducted the Sweet By-and-Bye, and "God Be With You for Till We Meet Again." Mrs. Smith joined heartily in the singing.

championship season closes on September 30. The club owners made a serious mistake this year above all others in shortening the championship season. The cames could have been played right up to November 1 with profit for lubs and players.

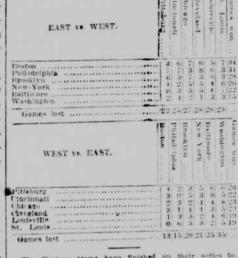

The playing of the Boston team has been a revelation this year, and the pennant will again go to the city of culture and beans, as it should. The present Boston ninlearly outclasses everything in the League, and until the other cities can foster the same team work, brilliancy and lash, there is little chance of Boston losing the cham-pionship. The New-Englanders might lose the champion-dash, there is little Change of the champion-pionship. The New-Englanders might have the champion-ship by being beaten in all the refisining games, but with such a team such a result is simply impossible. The Pittsburg Philadelphia, Cleveland and New-York teams all have a chance to capture second place, but Pittsburg's chances seem the best, particularly as that team will play all its remaining games on home grounds. One of the peculiar features of the race is that St. Louis has not won a game from Boston, Baltimor from Pittsburg, nor Cineinnati from Philadelphia. Wasi

ARRESTED AT THE CHURCH FOR BIGAMY

THOMAS FERWICK'S DESERTED WIFE FINDS HIM AT NORTH COS COB WITH A BRIDE OF THREE WEEKS.

Greenwich, Conn., Sept. 3 (Special).—At the close of the service at the North Cos Cob Methodist Protestant Church this evening Thomas Fenwick was taken into custody and locked up in the Greenwich fail on a charge of bigamy. Fenwick, who is more than fifty years old, formerly lived at North Cos Cob, but left there ten years ago with his family and settled in New-Haven. Upon the death of a child in 1886, he abandoned his wife and his six children, without even waiting to attend the funeral services. A year or so ago he returned to North Cos Cob, where he attended the revival meetings then being held at the Methodist Protestant Church, professed conversion, and since that time has led prayer meetings and displayed his rezeal in many other ways. He fell in love with Miss Elizabeth Jarman, one of the most prom ment leaders in church work there, and married her at Bedford, N. Y., three weeks ago.

The deserted wife became acquainted with the facts last week, and to-day she and two married sons came here from New-Haven to make an investigation and placed the case in the hands of When the officer went to the church he saw Fenwick and wife No. 2 engaged in fervent prayer, kneeling at the altar, and, as said, placed the man under arrest at the close of the service. Mrs. Fenwick No. 2 was prostrated over the affair, as she supposed when she married Fenwick that he was a single man. He will have a hearing before Judge Hoyt in the Greenwich Borough Court to-morrow morning. Wife No. 1 and her sons and daughters will press the case without mercy.

There will be single and double sculls, and four and eight-oared races. There is great suffering among the poor of Yonkers, especially those who have lost employment through the closing of the factories. So many cases of destitution have been reported that Mayor Weller has published a call for a meeting at Manor Hall, on Thursday evening, to formulate some plan of relief.

NEW-JERSEY.

NEWARK.

The Consolidated Traction Compa, which controls all the street railroad lines but one in Essex County, has informed the employes of a reduction in wages. Drivers are to get $1.50 a day for the first six months, $1.75 for the second six months and $2 a day thereafter, if they are satisfactory. Starters are reduced from $2 a day to $1.42, and hostlers are reduced from 50 cents to $1.50 in their Labor Day will be celebrated with a parade of the trade organizations, under the auspices of the Essex Trades Council, and a picnic at the Shooting Park.

ORANGE.

The Newark City Church Extension Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church has taken up the needs of the eastern part of East Orange and decided to establish a church at Park-ave, and Grovest. A lot 67x167 feet has been leased, with an option on its purchase within a year, and a neat and com-modious frame structure has been erected and will be opened for service next Sunday. The Rev. L. C. Muller, superintendent of the City Church Extension Society, will have charge of the mission for the present.

The clubhouse and lot of the Orange Wheelmen in Park-ave, near Day-st., is advertised for sale by the Sheriff on Tuesday, September 12. marks the downfall of one of the most pros perous cycling clubs of Essex County. The club was organized after the disintegration of the famous Orange Wanderers, largely from members of that club. It held a number of successful races and seemed on the high road to prosperity. A lot was purchased and $3,000 borrowed from the Orange was purchased and $1,900 borrowed from the Orange Building and Loan Association. The clubhouse was built and furnished. It was then realized that the club had made a mistake in building so far from the business centre of the city. Members dropped out, the club ran behind in expenses, and finally defaulted in its payments to the loan association.
Foreclosure followed. The liabilities are $3,424.70.

Justice of the Peace William Levy was arrested recently on charges of forgery and perjury, pre-ferred by George P. Rust, of Passaic. Moses Simon and Phillip Katz were his bondsmen. Levy has not been heard from since he was released on bail, and Simon thinks he has disappeared for good. Some of his notes, indersed by Simon, are failing due, and a second mortgage for $4,500 on some tenement property in First-st., given to pro-tect the bondsmen, is said to be worthless.

H. HUNTINGTON WINS AT YONKERS.

HE DEFEATS H. THAYER IN THE PALISADE BOAT CLUB TENNIS MATCHES.

tennis tournament of the Palisade Boat Club of Yonkers was continued Saturday afternoon at Yonkers. As most people expected, Huntington won the singles, defeating H. Thayer in the last round. Thayer scored one set. The doubles will be finished to-day, Myers and Beecher meeting the winner of the match between the Thayer brothers and Baird and Holbrook. The summary follows: Men's singles, semi-final round—H. Thayer defeated H. D. Betts, 6-5, 0-6, 7-5. Final round-H. Huntington defeated H. Thayer, 6-2, 6-1, 5-7, 6-1.

Men's doubles, semt-final round-P. C. Myers and H. Beecher defeated Carroll Moore and A. Bash-tord, 6-5, 6-3.

THE TOURNEY OF THE LENOX CLUB. The handicap tournament of the Lenox Tennis Club opened last Saturday afternoon, and the men's singles were played as far as the semifinals. The handicapping was poor and the play was decidedly one-sided. A large number of members competed, however, and from one point of view the tournament is considered a success players still in the race, Hillier, Bostwick, Wyeth and Aiken, will play off to-day. The scores were as follows: Men's Singles Preliminary Round.—A. M. Alken (owe half-thirty), defeated (M. Townsend thalf-fifteen), 6-0, 6-1; Redding and Van Gaasbeek were defaulted.

KANSAS WOMEN IN POLITICS.

Kansas City, Kan., Sept. 3.-The Woman Suffragist Convention has started a campaign that is to rack the State continually until the constitutional amendment is voted upon in the fall of 1894, with speeches by Susan B. Anthony, Helen M. Gougar, Mrs. Lease, Anna L. Diges, Mrs. Emma Devoc, Mrs. St. John and others. The following is in part the platform adopted on which the long suffrage battle is to be fought;

"We take it to be the determined policy of the Kansas Equal Suffrage Association to confine the work for the amendment strictly to arguments and propaganda for the enfranchisement of women It is not expected, nor will it be asked for the women of the several parties that they should cease their active and zealous work for their re spective parties, yet we must emphatically statthat all speakers and workers under the auspices of the amendment campaign committees shall re frain from argument for, or reference to, their party issues.

"All political parties of the State shall be and are hereby asked to embody in the county and State platforms expressions favoring the adoption of the unequivocal suffrage planks."

PLAMES IN AN INDIANA ASTLUM Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 3.-The State Institution

for Feeble-Minded Youths narrowly escaped de-struction by fire last evening, and the 600 imbecile children came near being rendered homeless. The fire originated in the storeroom, catching from a nite of old greasy rags. The hand grenades wer used without effect, and the city firemen came The asylum is two miles north of the city, and the flames gained great headway before the engines reached the grounds. The children were rushed ou of the institution, and only after two hours' work were the flames controlled. The damage will be $15,000; fully insured.

AN AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY IN TROUBLE.

Woodstown, N. J., Sept. 3 (Special).-The financial collapse of the West Jersey Agricultural Association is likely to cause considerable trouble as charges of sharp practice are being freely circulated. The twenty-third annual fair, which closed on Thursday last, was the last that will ever be held by the present organization. Charles E.

Allen, one of the Executive Committee of the clation, had judgment entered on a bond of and Sheriff Newell promptly levied against the property of the association. This, it is said, we scarcely cover the judgment, and the hundreds premium-winner and other creditors, whose claims will aggregate perhaps $1,590, will not receive a confort their efforts. The fair has been deteriorated for several years past, and while the gate receipts this year were nearly up to the average, we exhibits and racting were poor, and it was generally conceded that it would be bad policy to attempt to continue the exhibition. The horsemen living at a distance who won trottling purses and left here on last night's special train were mostly paid full, but those paid in checks will be losers. To present officers of the association, which was incorporated in 1870, are: Dr. M. J. Paulding, predent; James D. Lawson, secretary, and William Lippincott, treasurer.
